

Be a College of Business Ambassador!

Who are the College of Business Ambassadors?

The College of Business Ambassadors represent the students in the Business College at New Mexico State University. They are role model students that volunteer throughout the University and assist at strategic community and University events to promote retention and recruitment for the College of Business. In addition, Ambassadors participate in events with Donors and Alumni of the College.

What are the requirements to be a COB Ambassador?

Students are expected to:

- Be at least a sophomore. Graduate students are welcome!
- Maintain a minimum of a 2.7 Cumulative GPA
- Conduct themselves in a highly ethical and professional manner when representing the College of Business
- Entertain a high opinion of New Mexico State and the College of Business
- Have a positive attitude and enjoy representing your college, campus and community!

This program is a great way for you to network with business executives, community members and alumni, get involved with your college, volunteer for events, and make new friends!
