The Teaching Business Ethics Workshop, sponsored by the Daniels Fund Ethics Initiative Collegiate Program at New Mexico State University and the University of Denver, will be held at the Drury Plaza Hotel in Santa Fe, NM. This year's workshop will focus on the Daniels Fund Principles of Accountability and Rule of Law as it affects how we teach business ethics in our classes. There will be a variety of discussions, talks, and activities to incorporate Accountability and Rule of Law, including a resource building activity to be used within your classes for each discipline. The workshop is free to participants through a generous grant in support of Principle-Based Business Ethics Education from the Daniels Fund.
