Golf Management

NMSU PGA Golf Management was founded in 1987 within the College of Business. Since our inception NMSU PGA Golf Management has produced more than 750 PGA Professionals spanning the United States and beyond. New Mexico State University is sanctioned by the Professional Golfers' Association (PGA) of America to offer a PGA Golf Management Program. The 4 ½ year program leads to a Bachelor of Business Administration, majoring in Marketing with a specialization in PGA Golf Management.

Our alumni are industry leaders in areas ranging from top 100 courses to city municipal and country clubs of all distinctions. General Manager, Director of Golf, Head Golf Professional, Teaching Professional and Tournament Director are just some of the positions that our alumni occupy in the industry, and continue to be the roles that our students strive to attain. NMSU PGA Golf Management has maintained a 100 percent placement rate for both internships and permanent positions for students.

Our program is viewed as one of the premier PGA Golf Management Programs in the country. With an average enrollment of 110-140 students, NMSU PGA Golf Management is a place where students can come and be part of a family. We believe the NMSU PGA Golf Management Program is the premier program in the country when it comes to job placement, alumni support, player development, PGA education, student activities, and industry specific training. We are confident in our commitment and ability to train top quality PGA Professionals.

THE PROGRAM

Our program enjoys a rich history of industry support and alumni success. With over 25 years of experience in education, job placement and player development, we are confident in our ability to train tomorrow's industry leaders. NMSU PGA Golf Management students will have the opportunity to work in industry related positions that enhance their college and PGA PGM education.

Students will complete 16 months of internship under the supervision of PGA Class "A" Professionals at different golf facilities, which include golf courses, PGA or LPGA Headquarters, PGA Section Offices, and other employment opportunities within the golf industry. In addition to the course work and internship experiences, students will complete the entire PGA PGM Educational Program (Levels 1-3) while attending NMSU. Students will also complete the PGA Playing Ability Test (P.A.T.) while enrolled at NMSU. Once all the required course work, 16 months of internship, all three Levels of the PGA PGM Educational Program, and the PGA P.A.T. are completed, NMSU PGA Golf Management students will receive PGA membership upon graduation and eligible employment in the golf industry.

CURRICULUM

All PGA Golf Management students are required to complete 128 credits, which consists of General Education courses, foundation Business Administration courses, multiple Marketing courses, and PGA Golf Management specific classes. The PGA Golf Management specific classes include courses in Turfgrass Management, Golf Course Design, Food Service Organization and Management, and eight classes on the PGA's PGM Educational Program. These classes help prepare students to complete the PGA PGM Education.

PGA GOLF MANAGEMENT COURSE LAB FEES

There are additional costs associated with pursuing the PGA Golf Management specialty. We have grouped these additional costs into course lab fees. These fees will cover all required expenses associated with the PGA's PGM Educational Program; four PGA Golf Management tournaments each semester; some supplemental materials for the PGA Golf Management specific classes; and your first attempt of the PGA's Playing Ability Test.
