Having worked in the nonprofit sector for many years, Alba Martinez decided to bring her skills as a lawyer and executive management experience in social service organizations to Vanguard. It was a spectacular match. In the nonprofit and government organizations she focused on helping families gain economic self-sufficiency through innovative programs and approaches. At Vanguard, Alba leads the Education Markets Group, which helps families across the U.S. with their college savings goals by providing well designed, low cost investment services. This program provides administration for 25 states and manages over $22 billion in 529 Plan assets. Alba’s talented team ensures that Vanguard’s services are delivered flawlessly on a daily basis. She is still serving people—and listening to them—but in a different capacity.

“Vanguard was the perfect fit for me because of its industry leadership—it is among the best and most successful companies of any kind in the U.S.—but, most importantly, because of its philosophy and core values. We are singularly focused on serving our clients and earning and keeping their trust every day as we help them meet their financial goals.”
